Dearest Alma

I sure have enjoyed knowing you and the mighty good times we have had together. I sure hope we will see each other real often as well as our mutual friend Jimmie Sword. I wish you much success through life (especially in regard to the other sex)

Lots of love and luck

PUBLISHED BY THE
BALL TEACHERS COLLEGE
MUNCIE, INDIANA

Robert F. LaFollette

Dedication

TO ROBERT R. LaFOLLETTE, head of Department of Social Science, a thorough scholar, an inspiring teacher, and a true friend, whose character and teaching exemplify in the highest degree those ideals for which Ball Teachers College stands, the senior class dedicates this, the Orient of 1929.

A Tribute

IT is with respect that we pause here to pay tribute to the memory of our departed friend and professor, Richard A. Gantz, who believed in the purpose of our school and the spirit of its students. As he was very considerate, he appreciated the burdens of his fellowmen and was never too busy to encourage them.

FOREWORD

THE happiest days of our lives are our college days. That the memory of those happy days may ever live, we have published this book. Here we have written of our classmates, of friends from whom we must be torn. Here in years to come you will find the familiar faces and the characteristic college day pranks. We hope that this may always be the source of pleasant reminiscences for all who desire a memorandum of college days. If this book becomes as cherished as the memories that it invokes, then we will feel that we have not worked in vain.

The ORIENT

THE spirit of our school is the spirit of youth ready to run a race. Our eyes are on the goal, our energies are concentrated and our wills are set to win.

We must not fail!

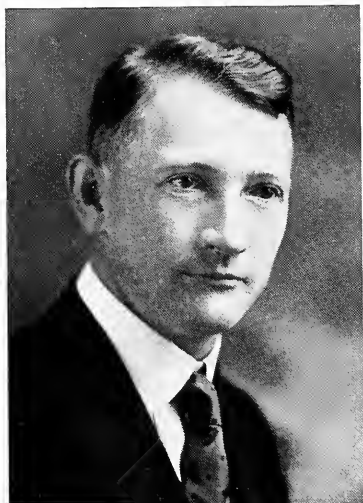

We have no ivy clinging to historic walls. Rather, we are building walls and planting ivy that some day may move a future poet to rhapsodize. We are doing more than earning credits and preparing to live. We are living here and now, and we are building an institution.

What this institution will be in the years to come depends on what we are and what we now do. Could there be a greater challenge? Is there among us one so lethargic as to be unmoved by this challenge?

We will not fail!

DEAN NOYER

DR. NOYER has been at Ball Teachers College for a year in the capacity as dean of the school. He has earned the title of a genuinely deep and straight thinking friend of the student body, because he has an open mind for any problem that might come before him. His foresight, his experience, and his knowledge of the ways of men enable him to act efficiently under any situation. Dean Noyer is versatile. He radiates as much interest and enthusiasm in speaking before a women's club at six o'clock as he does in talking to a civic club meeting later in the evening.

The place this man holds in conducting affairs at Ball Teachers College might be characteristically described if one called him "head approver," for before making any rash steps, each student knows that for his own welfare, he should seek advice from one who is ever ready to give of the best he has.

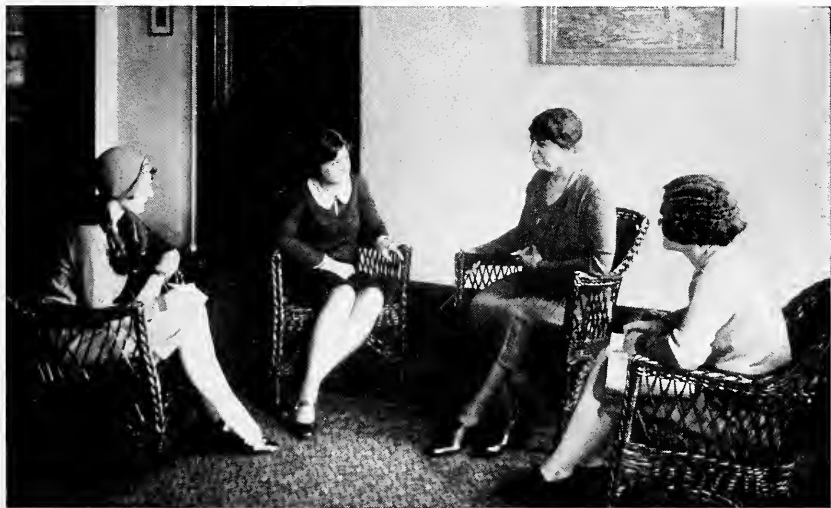

DEAN DEHORITY

SINCE she came to the institution in 1922, Miss Grace DeHority has been gaining friends. In her role as adviser of the girls of the college, she holds the confidence of every one with whom she comes in contact. She has given much of her time and energy in the interest of the Young Women's Christian Association and the various sections of the Girls' Club, both of which have enjoyed success because of her generous aid and timely advice. The idea that no one is welcome in her office except girls is a serious mistake, for Miss DeHority welcomes any one who goes there. She is a pal to every Ball Teachers College student.

Grace DeHority

DEAN AUSTIN

DR. AUSTIN took up the duties as dean of men at the beginning of the winter term, but his record would indicate that the new position was "an old job for him." The new dean succeeded Professor Palmer, whose duties as music department head made it impossible to continue the work required by the deanship.

The new dean, besides his official task as the men's friend and adviser, is assistant yell leader, which position he cherishes almost as much as the official one. He is a "regular pep dynamo," in the opinion of one student. You can expect nothing but a lot of fun and jocularly when you visit his office. Dr. Austin frequently directs pep convocations, and every student knows that he is a "live wire."

MR. WAGONER

WHAT is his business here? "He controls the college purse strings," is one answer. Mr. Wagoner is distinctly the business man of the college. Besides his duties as head financier and purchaser, he is also chairman of the schedule committee. As secretary-registrar, he is one of the few men who say they like to work both day and night.

Despite the steadiness with which he toils for the interests of Ball Teachers College, Mr. Wagoner delights in having personal, friendly talks with the students. He says that "this school business is an interesting game." A light in his office late many nights is ample proof that he gives the game a fair deal.

SENIORS

FOUR years have come and gone! We, the members of the Senior Class, are standing on the threshold of a new experience. Together we have worked and played in the limited community which is our school, preparing ourselves to make adjustments in the greater community which to be our environment in the future.

With varying degrees of success we have attained the goals set for us by other people. We have passed the tests in scholarship given us by the professors. In dormitories, organizations, and school activities we have passed the tests of good fellowship and sportmanship. We have learned and accomplished a great many things, but the greatest of all is yet to be achieved. It remains for us now to strive toward our own ideals of perfection and complete living.

Life, "which seems to lie before us like a land of dreams," may, in accordance with the words of the poet, hold "neither joy, nor love, nor certitude," but to us, eager and expectant, it is, at least, the great adventure.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

THERE is surely no one attending Ball Teachers College who can possibly say that he has not heard of the Junior Class, for the Class of 1930 is one of singular ability. This ability has been displayed in its different accomplishments.

In 1926 there were enrolled approximately 350 in the Freshman Class. The time that has elapsed since then has taken its toll. The weaker, less reliable, and less fortunate ones have been culled out until but 130 staunch members remain.

The 1928-'9 social calendar was opened by a delightful "get-together party" given by the class sponsors in the gymnasium. The class appreciated their earnest co-operation.

Perhaps the most unique production of the school year was the "Junior Follies." Following the precedent set by the Class of '29, the Junior Class gave the "Second Annual Junior Prom" in the Hotel Roberts, May 29.

As it is traditional for the Junior Class to produce a play, the Class of '30 gave "The Boomerang" by Smith and Mapes. This play climaxed "Junior Week," which was June 3 to 7.

Much of the credit for the success of the class is due to the sponsors. Mr. Christy, Miss Jackson, Mr. Simpson, Miss Portia Baker, and Miss Pavey.

TWO-YEAR GRADUATES

IN a brief two years the two-year graduates have assimilated the vast amount of knowledge necessary for their chosen profession.

All work and no play? No, not at all! Contrary to prevailing opinion the two-year graduate is just as active a participant in extra-curricular and academic activities as the less harried four-year student. Boosting athletic teams, attending dances, holding positions of honor and responsibility in all school programs, he is everywhere very much in evidence.

How he does it no one but the two-year grad knows. Possibly he has learned the value of concentration. When he works he may work hard so that he will have more time to devote to play. Of course, it is barely possible that the work required of him is not so difficult as that of the others and consequently takes less time.

Be that as it may, while he is here he does make an impression and becomes so much a part of college life that his precipitous departure leaves a gap. He does not, because of the brevity of his sojourn, go out "unhonored and unsung."

YOU thought the above picture was a semblance of the Sophomore Class? No, indeed. Those young men and women are the officers. They are, reading from up to down, John Kerlin, president; Marcella Wimmer, vice-president; Barbara Barbier, secretary, and Helen Shaw, treasurer. Mr. Kerlin was not in school during the spring term, having got enough out of the position to retire.

The he-men of the class first brought sweet honors to the sophomores by successfully defending the second-year colors from the multitude of freshmen who attempted to humble them. That Home-Coming Day saw brave and cunning deeds on the part of the sophomore men (during the fight for the colors—other events of the contests are scarcely worth mentioning). Kerlin did much to win the fight before the contest by a careful selection of nails and trusty blows with a heavy hammer.

On February 1 the second annual Sophomore Cotillion was held in the girls gymnasium. Kirky's Rhythm Band furnished the music (what else?) Novel programs and decorations were accomplished in the class colors, black and white. The committee was composed of Verl Clark, Glee Hammer, John Lantz, Herman Bundy, George Collins, Charles Bolner, Grace Arthur, and John Kerlin. The affair was given for money-making purposes, and not much was lost.

FRESHMAN CLASS

THE Freshman Class, with an enrollment of four hundred ninety-nine students, entered Ball Teachers College at the beginning of the fall term, 1928, with a determination which the most exacting professor has been unable to overcome. As a result the class has upheld the standards of previous classes by attaining honors in all activities on the campus as well as in the class room. Several awards in athletics have been won by freshmen this year.

In the class scrap the sophomores showed their generosity by arranging three encounters. The freshmen failed in the flag rush; but, due to the fact that several of them would not or could not keep their shirts on, they rallied and won the obstacle race and bag rush. These victories gave them the privilege of removing the red buttons from their green caps. The "Rhinies" entertained the upper classmen at a dance given in Ball Gymnasium, November 16, 1928.

The assistance rendered by Professor Clem O. Thompson, chairman of the class sponsors, has been greatly appreciated. The class officers who have promoted freshman activities this year are William Howell, president; Paul McCormick, vice-president; Frances Leach, secretary; and Louis Carroll, treasurer.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

IT is the duty of the student publications committee to supervise and assist student officials in the preparation and publication of the school paper and annual and to direct students in determining the policy of the publications. Yes, to be a member of this committee is probably the worst job open to faculty members on this campus. Not only does the committee have to work with cranky, stubborn editors but it has to keep the readers of the Easterner and The Orient in an amiable frame of mind.

The members of the 1929 Orient Staff take this opportunity to thank the committee for its loyal cooperation during the year. The members of the committee are Mrs. Sharley DeMotte, Mr. Basil Swinford, Mr. Shirley Bab-bitt, and Mr. P. B. Parker.

THE EASTERNER'S EVOLUTION

THE first Easterner made its appearance at the beginning of the fall term in 1921, a four column sheet with columns thirteen and a half inches in length. In October, 1922, an extra column was added, and the columns were lengthened an inch. At the beginning of the fall term, 1928, two more columns were added, making the paper a seven-column publication; the column length was increased four and one-half inches, making the total length of the printed columns nineteen inches; and the column width was reduced to twelve ems. A few weeks later another inch was added to the length. Comparison between the early attempts and the current issues seems to indicate that (as logically as be the case) proportional growth has been effected in the make-up, style, and the subject matter.

HOMER KING

ROBERT GOUGH

THE EASTERNER

IN this age of bigger and better things, The Easterner has at least aspired to bigger things. At the beginning of the fall term the size of the paper was increased to seven 12-em columns; the size of the sheet is 16 by 21 inches. Soon after an extra inch was added to the bottom. Several new features were added also. Among these was the installation of two wide-measure columns to be devoted to editorials each week. This space came to be the ruling power of the campus opinion. When the abolishment of rough initiation was advocated, the intra-fraternity council immediately took action to take no action on the matter. Thereafter editorial comment concerned itself with the beauty of autumn, the spirit of Christmas, the opportunities of January, and the flowers of spring. Throughout the year co-operation was the permeating atmosphere of the editorial office. The entire staff co-operated to reform, remake, and refute the editor. In the beginning little interest in the paper was manifested by the student body, but in an inspired moment the staff adopted the policy of misspelling all proper names.

If worth is measured by improvement, then the business staff is worth much indeed. Not that the staff has improved in quality, but it has doubtless improved in quantity. When the first fall-term bills arrived, the staff that courageously faced them was composed of Professor Basil Swinford. However, after the publication of an article in The Easterner pointing out the advantages to be derived from contact with prospective advertisers and simple collection problems, to say little or nothing of the substantial reward in lucre, the student body turned out almost in mass to gain a place on the business staff. So it was that Miss Esther Debra, staff advisor, soon found Mr. Swinford's services more a luxury than a necessity. Now that these family details have been chronicled, let us proceed to the year's accomplishments. The accomplishments were really due to the make-up man, as his was the problem of forcing the advertising gathered each week into the small Easterner forms. He solved affairs though by cutting down the amount of advertising. Did some one suffer from this? Yes, some one suffered from this. The business and editorial staff's payroll was diminished by half.

Junior Prom
With Apologies to Arthur Brisbane

BALL TEACHERS COLLEGE has recently constructed a stone path between the Administration Building and the Library and Assembly Hall. The narrow path is but four to five feet wide, with stunts noticeably ungratified. Many travelers on the new highway are sorely troubled with stone bruises at a result.

That proves more than ever the need for aviation. Students could be carried between the two buildings in miniature planes, thus saving time and energy. Also inconvenience of unloading shoes of stones.

To transport students in this way sounds impossible to those without imagination. Passengers equipped with dependable, portable parachutes could be dropped from planes flying over each building.

Passengers landing thus could come down through a freizeut that to the churning cloud or hull, thus saving stairway mats and rubber heels.

Lakers have devised a new scheme by which ten of every ten squander thousands of dollars every day.

The typical faker asks for a small bit of change. If the one approached be of the "bung sex," he gives a nickel or more. He is handed a small payment of paper as a receipt, with these words written upon it:

"Thanks. You are now a member of the Jewish Navy. This nickel will be used to transport boys from Jerusalem to Bethlehem. Now don't get used. Your nickel will 'not' gum."

Ten years will see all Oriental port transported in huge freight planes. Aviation takes its place very soon in the mammoth port industry of the Jews.

Only a few years will pass before fresh thanks can be rushed to Jerusalem in a few hours, in case of a pork famine in the Holy Land.

JOHNSON PRESIDES

Junior class will have charge of convocations this morning in Assembly Hall. The program will be varied, of which the nucleus will be the farewell speech by the senior class president, Clarence Babecock. Eldon Johnson will preside.

A novelty song and dance act, put on by Eldon Speedy, will be one of the main features of the hour. Glen Stephens will accompany Mrs. Speedy on the piano.

Max Poland will have charge of the Little Symphony Orchestra, which will open the program.

A group of Italian readings will be given by Miss Mildred George in co-

Five Students Will Do Chautauqua Work

Five B. T. C. students—Ken Resor, Lloyd Burt, Howard Brumfield, Kenneth Matthews, and Howard Davis, will appear on chautauqua programs this summer in the employment of the Laure Independent Chautauqua.

Rehearsals will begin on June 15 at Spencer, Indiana, where the company will remain until July 9. At this time these musicians will begin the season's circuit, which will extend over Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Maupin's Novelties and Singing Band is the organization in which the students will play. It is a snappy, collegiate band, which plays everything from popular to classical music.

All five of these young men have had wide experience in instrumental music. With the exception of Howard Davis, who is a senior at Central High School, they have played with the college band and orchestra and are prominent in other music activities on the campus.

Spooled Children Attempt To Advise Mother on Second Matrimonial Voyage

Come See a Ruddy Auburn, an Indulgent Mother, and a Man with Money, All in the Same Evening.

"How does he spend your evenings?" ask Vincent and Anita of Mrs. Wakefield, their mother, who contemplates another voyage on the sea of matrimony. Children of today have something to say about their mother's second husband.

"He generally spends them waiting for you children to go to bed," replies Mrs. Wakefield.

In the production "Children of Today," which will be presented by the junior class in Assembly Hall at 8 o'clock this evening, the evils of the modern spoiled child are shown in a novel way.

One of these spoiled children is that ruddy subber who has seen fluttering about the campus—Mildred McCann, who takes the part of Anita Wakefield, the pretty, petite, precocious girl of seventeen.

ANITA ATTRACTS the attention of Robert Owen, a handsome, polished actor of the post-impetuous school. Leonard Moore is especially fitted to take the role of Robert in view of the natural endowment he possesses above his lip. Robert tries to be so straight that he bows backward.

Eldon Johnson puts a few breezes into the production in playing the part of Vincent Wakefield, the other spoiled child. He falls for Rene Dupres, a refined French adventuress, played by Ina Anderson. Rene is one of those war-time idiosyncrasies that veterans of the World War remember easily—the kind that made forgetting hard.

The indulgent mother is the case of all the confusion. Ann McCrory, in the role of Isabel Wakefield, receives plenty of advice from her two offspring, but she is finally saved by Mr. George Randolph, a financier, who (always) knows how to turn failure into success. One of the qualities of this character is tenderness; another is sentiment. Mrs. Ramsey, coach of the play, has succeeded in performing a miracle, for both those qualities are admirably portrayed by Edward Greenlee, who is the messenger of hope in this masterpiece of satire.

Holdy not the hour when you will buy your ticket, for only a few remain in the hall of the Administration Building, and you get more than a worm for being early; you get a whole evening of fun and laughter and tuckered gaiters.

"Children of Today," a four-act, comedy-drama, by Samuel Shipman and Clara Lipman, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in Assembly Hall by the Junior Class of Ball Teachers College.

Miss Mildred McCann and Eldon Johnson will play the roles of Anita Wakefield and Vincent Wakefield, respectively, children of Isabel Wakefield. Mrs. Wakefield, to be played by Ann McCrory, is a very indulgent mother, and Anita and Vincent are typical American youths, independent, self-willed, and self-sufficient.

George Randolph, a proficient bachelor of fifty, will be played by Edward Greenlee. Ina Anderson will appear as Rene Dupres, a refined French adventuress, and Leonard Moore as Robert Owens, a handsome, dignified aristocrat. Walter Young will play the part of the policeman.

The action takes place in New York City, the first two acts in the dressing room at Mrs. Wakefield's and the (Continued on page two)

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

THE Junior-Senior Prom, which was held at the Hotel Roberts, was the first activity of this kind ever to be given on the campus at Ball Teachers College. Heretofore, the Junior Class has given a banquet in honor of the graduating class. The progressive Junior Class of 1928, now the graduating class of 1929, voted to do away with the old custom and give a Junior-Senior Prom instead.

Carl Young's Oriental Serenaders from Ohio, were secured to furnish the music for the prom. The ball room was decorated in the class colors, and the orchestra was surrounded by palms and other greenery.

The first prom was a strictly invitational affair, and only those holding bids were admitted to the dance, or one member of each couple attending had to be a member of either the Junior or the Senior Class. Bids were issued during the week preceding the prom.

Without a doubt the prom was a huge success, and it is the hope that there will be other proms to follow. The Junior and Senior Class sponsors as well as other members of the faculty were present at the affair.

The committee in charge included Reuben Foland, Robert Gough, and Dwight Morris.

THE BONFIRE

HOME-COMING

THE annual Home-Coming of Ball Teachers College was held on the campus Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10, 1928. Under the able leadership of Professor Clem O. Thompson, assisted by representative faculty members and students, an elaborate program of welcome was outlined.

A slight rain reduced the attendance at the first event of importance, which was the big bonfire and snake dance held Friday night, but even the rain had little effect on the next event, the grand theater "rush." After the snake dance, a large crowd, including the band, gathered at the Rivoli. Hundreds of students crowded through the doors and packed the balcony. The band mounted the stage amid a storm of cheering and played the college songs while the audience sang.

Saturday morning at 9:30 a large crowd gathered on the athletic field, which was almost a sea of mud, to see the Freshmen wrest from the Sophomores the honors of the day by winning two out of three events, which included a color rush, an obstacle race, and a bag race. As a consequence thereof the Freshmen were seen removing little red buttons. Visitors were taken on a tour of the campus after these contests.

THE COLOR RUSH

BAG RACE

At noon the various sections, clubs, and organizations entertained the visiting alumni with luncheons at the hotels, clubs, and school cafeteria. Here again was revived the spirit of welcome and good-fellowship.

Faculty, students, and alumni then returned to the athletic field to witness the defeat of the Hanover gridiron warriors, who were held to the short end of a 6-0 score. At times the two teams could scarcely be distinguished one from the other because of the muddy conditions prevailing on the field.

In the evening guests and hosts gathered in Ball Gymnasium where all was a riot of red and white (thanks to the efforts of the decorating committee), and there was dancing to the haunting melodies furnished by the orchestra. So far into the night, when with the fading away of the last strains of music passed also into history and happy memories the third annual Home-Coming of Ball Teachers College.

MOTHER'S DAY

THE sixth annual Mother's Day was this year observed on Friday, February 15. The attendance at this affair, which is sponsored by the Girls Club, has increased each year.

Special convocation exercises were held in Assembly Hall at 10 o'clock on that day. President L. A. Pittenger presided and was also the principal speaker. Short talks were given by Dean Grace DeHority and Dean Everett L. Austin. Formal presentation of a typewriter was made to Anna Marie Yates of Anderson, who won a state-wide contest by writing 81 words a minute for fifteen minutes without error. The remainder of the program consisted of numbers by the College Trio and by the Madrigal Club, a solo by Margaret Reynolds, and a cornet solo by John Geiger. The faculty committee in charge of convocation included Miss Grace Woody and Miss Regina Frank of the physical education department and Professor Claude E. Palmer, head of the department of music.

In the forenoon the mothers visited the classes, which were held as usual, and also visited the art gallery, in which a two-week exhibit of the paintings of Claude Buck of Chicago was being held. From two to five o'clock an informal tea and reception were held in the recreation room of Forest Hall. Miss Portia Baker of the English department was the chairman in charge of the reception.

At 6:30 o'clock the annual dinner was held in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. L. A. Pittenger gave the welcome address to the mothers, and Mrs. H. E. Manring of Muncie responded for the mothers. The Boys' Glee Club, the band, and Miss Lois Sloan furnished the musical program of the evening.

The various clubs, sections, and organizations on the campus held luncheons and teas at the hotels and club houses at noon on Friday and Saturday.

DAD'S DAY

MORE than 150 "dads" were entertained by the students at the annual Dad's Day program, which was held Saturday, October 27, and included registration, a tour of the campus, an all-college banquet in honor of the "dads," and the football game between Danville Normal and Ball Teachers College.

The visitors were given an opportunity to confer with the members of the faculty and the administration from 10:30 to 11:00 in the morning. Each member of the faculty was in his office at this time.

Dr. Ralph Noyer, dean of the school, Ernest Borrer, a member of the sophomore class, and George Chenoweth, principal of Washington School, Fort Wayne, were the speakers at the banquet, which was held in the Masonic Temple. John Geiger of Selma played a cornet solo.

The evening was given over to the organizations, at which time they entertained their "dads".

The committee in charge included the following: Katherine MacLearie, Marie Ballinger, Agnes Greenwalt, Kathryn Gant, Roma Hayworth, Martha McKinley, Rachel Rarick, James Leakey, Floyd Jeffries, Gerald Dirk, Roger Pelham, and Glen Tinkle.

PAGEANT

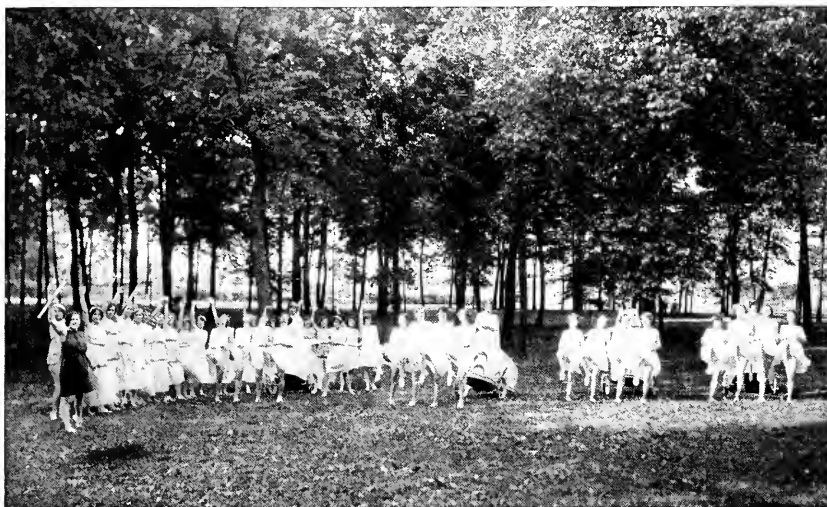

IN ancient Greece it was the custom to celebrate many festal days, each dedicated to one of the gods, by contests in feats of skill, music, comedy, and tragedy. Today we return to that ancient custom as nearly as modern conditions will permit and reproduce the classical festival, a contest in feats of skill; such a production was the annual pageant presented by the physical education department of Ball Teachers College in the Ball Gymnasium on Friday, June 8, 1928.

The Pythian Games were held in honor of Apollo, son of Jupiter and Latona, god of the sun, and prince of archery. Diana, twin sister of Apollo and goddess of the moon, of grace, and of vigor, presided over the events.

The program consisted of the following: procession of the seniors, prologue given by the herald, hymn to Apollo, prayers to patron gods; each festival was presided over by an honored personage, and in this instance it was Edna Marsland, a member of the senior class who was chosen by the student body as best representing Diana. Archery, torch race, pyrrhic, chariot race, crowning of the victors, and the recessional concluded the program.

The Greek chorus was a group of women who reflected the mood of the festival. If it were sad they wept; if it were glad they rejoiced. Its action was pantomimic and rhythmic. The chorus held a very important part in the festival.

This pageant was the result of the class work in pageantry. It was directed by Miss Grace Woody and Miss Ruth Kelley, both of the physical education department. "The Harp of Delight" was sung by the Madrigal Club, directed by Professor C. E. Palmer.

BETTER SPEECH CONTEST

THE fifth annual Better Speech Contest was held Wednesday, January 16, at 10 o'clock in the Library and Assembly Hall. Over one hundred seventy pupils from grades five to eight of the following schools were present: Yorktown, Royerton, Emerson, Muncie, Seventh Street School and Park Place School of Anderson, and Pendleton.

Pendleton and Anderson Seventh Street School tied for first place in the sixth grade test. First place in the seventh and eighth grade tests were won by Pendleton. Park Place School of Anderson won first place in the fifth grade test. The test papers were graded and scored by the Psychology 5 classes.

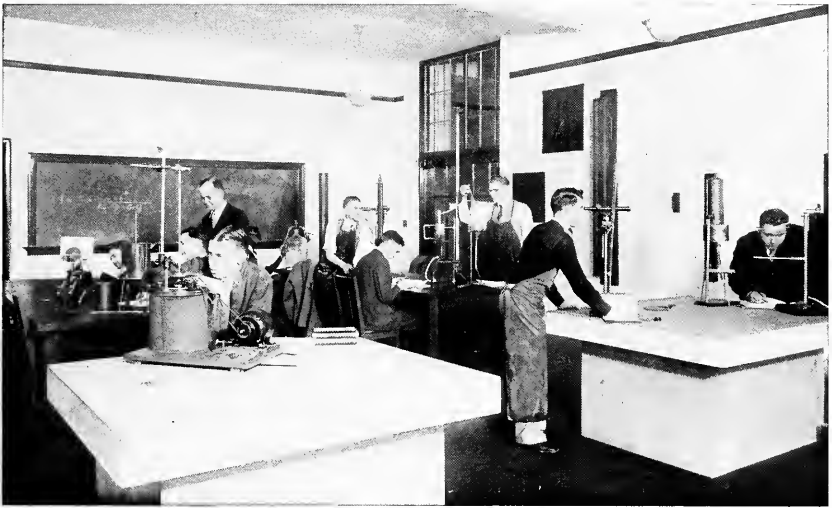

Miss Mary C. Pavey of the English department is the originator and director of the annual Better Speech Contests, the purpose of which is to furnish sufficient social motivation for the drill which is necessary to eliminate the different grammatical errors of the children.

Special convocation exercises were held. The program was furnished by Frances Leach, who whistled several numbers, and by Mrs. Dora Snyder and Cletis Bird, who danced.

Verbs were the main work in the test of the fifth, sixth, and seventh grades, while the work of the eighth grade was more of the cases of pronouns. Both eye and ear tests were given.

"CHILDREN OF TO-DAY"

A MELODRAMATIC comedy in four acts, "Children of To-day," was presented by the members of the Junior Class in Assembly Hall, June 6, 1928.

Intensely modern, its plot is concerned with the lives of two members of this "younger generation" in relation to the lives of their parents. A mother, educated by her two children to accept their advice and counsel on all matters, suddenly decides to live her own life, and domestic warfare results. The entire idea is a reversal of the usual "younger vs. older generation" scheme and, as such, is particularly amusing and entertaining.

The play was directed and coached by Mrs. Ramsey, and the cast was wisely chosen: The following members of the class of '29 took part: Isabel Wakefield, Ann McCreary; Vincent Wakefield, Eldon Johnson; Anita Wakefield, Mildred McCammon; George Randolph, an American financier, Edward Greenlee; Robert Osborne, an impressionist, Leonard Moore; Renee Dupree, Ina Anderson; Jeanette, maid, Ruth Price; and Pearson, Walter Young.

"SCENES FROM THE PICKWICK PAPERS"

CLEVER excerpts from the famous story about Mr. Pickwick by Dickens were presented by members of an English 45 class in convocation July 18, 1928, under the direction of Professor E. C. Shoemaker.

Mr. Pickwick innocently asked his landlady, "Can two people live as cheap as one?" and she considered the question as a proposal. The results of this error, all of which led up to a breach of promise suit, culminated in the trial of Bardell vs. Pickwick. The predicament of the unfortunate gentleman furnished material for an entertaining and amusing plot.

The cast of the play was as follows: Mrs. Bardell, Mrs. Ella Hay; Pickwick, James Logan; Master Bardell, Fred McClellan; Mrs. Saunders, Gladys Reeves; Mrs. Cluppins, Ruth Watkins; The Judge, Cerlie Fee; Sergeant Buzz, Fred Brinker; Sam Weller, Gerald Runyon; and Mr. Winkle, Elmer Hasler.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST"

A TYPICAL English play by Oscar Wilde was the comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," presented by the members of the English 45 class under the direction of Professor E. C. Shoemaker, May 31, 1928, in Assembly Hall.

The departure in scenic effects was found in the English garden scene, which was planned and constructed by Mr. Shoemaker, assisted by members of the class. Against the background of a lonely old brick wall, trees, plants, and flowers were placed in a manner characteristic of the typical English garden.

The plot of the play centered around the confusion arising from the indiscriminate use of a pseudonym and the popularity of the name Earnest among certain members of the fairer sex.

Members of the cast chosen from the class filled their parts well and were as follows: John Worthing, Herbert Hamilton; Algernon Moncrief, Maxwell Poland; Canon Chasuable, D. D., Merritt Boyer; Merriman, the butler, Robert Gibson; Lane, manservant, Fred Luzader; Lady Bracknell, Ruby Ritter; Hon. Givendolyn Fairfax, Mary Findling; Cecily Cardew, Lucile Burr; and Miss Prism, governess, Eunice Mitchell.

"PHORMIO"

PHORMIO, a Latin comedy by Terence, was presented by the members of the "Phormio" class, April 10, 1928, as it was translated into English by the class. The play was directed by Miss Viletta Baker, and the costumes were made by the class in "The Private Life of Romans," under the direction of Miss Lydia Grabbe.

Members of the cast were as follows:

Phormio	Margaret Thompson
Geta	Sarah Durham
Chremes	Edith Cleaver
Demipho	Barbara Barbier
Dorio	Grace Knott
Anthipho	Robert Milhollin
Phaedia	Dorothy Monks
Davos	Margaret Reichenbach
Nausistrata	Corinne Nottingham
Sophrone	Margaret Schonhardt

"THE KNAVE OF HEARTS"

COLORFUL costumes and stage settings characterized the presentation of "The Knave of Hearts" by the Spotlight Club in convocation, Wednesday, November 28, 1928.

"The Knave of Hearts" has as its theme the famous old rhyme about the queen of hearts who made some tarts and the knave of hearts who stole them. The mystery which had surrounded this theft for many years was thoroughly unraveled, and, as often, there was a woman at the bottom of it.

Beautiful Lady Violetta was disclosed to us as an extremely modern young woman who disliked to cook but still wished to become a queen of hearts. Required to bake some perfect tarts as a prerequisite to becoming the wife of King Pompdeble the Eighth, she bribed the knave to steal her failures and substitute tarts baked by his expert wife.

The parts were exceptionally well filled by members of the club, and much credit is due Mildred George, coach, and Mary Green, chairman of the stage setting and costume committee.

The cast included the following: Manager, Adele Phipps; Lady Violetta, Queen of Hearts, Kathryn Walker; Pompdeble the Eighth, King of Hearts, Thomas Gilbert; The Chancellor, Clarence Millspaugh; The Knave of Hearts, Roy Fritch; Ursula, lady-in-waiting, Evelyn Shirey; Blue Hose and Yellow Hose, pastry cooks, Merrill Mathews and Herman Campbell; heralds, Mildred Berlien and Virginia Graham; pages, Madge Wilson, Catherine Cloud, Ruth Watkins, Elizabeth Henderson, and Evelyn Waite.

JUNIOR FOLLIES

NOT since "Tom Thumb's Wedding" has such a promising production been produced as the "Junior Follies of 1929." Nor any ways near it. Not even close, as it were. Let the characters be introduced before the chronicler starts on the criticism lest there be no space left.

As the radio announcer would say, here it is: chorus, Wilma Duff, Margaret Mahoney, Doris Giroux, Dorothy Seldomridge, Margaret Reynolds, Mildred Berlein, Mary Young, and Negersta Pierce, with a solo dance by Grace Reame and Marjorie McCormick; playlet "Not Quite Such a Goose," Cleo Orr, James Leakey, Roberta Clemens, Marshall Huntsinger, and Mabel Hillman; vaudeville sketch "Try-Outs," Ina Anderson, Thomas Gilbert, and the Metropolitan Trio; minstrel, Hilton Spenceley, Leroy Reeves, Stanley Post, Walter Young, Gail Gaddis, Robert Ludy, Paul Redding, George Craig, Murry Wise, Merrill Mathews, and Russell Culy; and orchestra, Fred Bogart, Robert Piepho, Floyd Combs, John Geiger, John Lewellen, Joanna Yingling, Max Poland, Lois Slone, Dorothy Manning, Mary Garrett, Carl Noble, Russel Bryant, and Leonard Ireland. Hilton Spenceley rather got together the cast and kept it working and coached the minstrel show. George Thomas coached the dancing and, with Donald May, presented a special dance. That's most of them. The rest didn't want their names printed.

Just as suspected — there's not enough room for the criticism.

DEBATING — 1928-1929

"RESOLVED: That a criminal code similar in procedure to the criminal code of Great Britain should be adopted throughout the United States" was the topic used for discussion by the B. T. C. debating teams this year. The question was selected at last year's Debating League Conference. This question proved to be an interesting one since Great Britain has never codified her criminal law and the United States has no uniform criminal code. The first debate was a dual practice meet with Earlham College, and although no decision was given by the critic judges, round-table discussions were held after the debates. Both teams lost in the next contest, a dual decision meet with Taylor University. The affirmative team was again defeated in a contest with the negative team from Butler University, and on the same night the negative team defeated Terre Haute's affirmative, making a record for the season of one debate won, three lost, and two no decision.

KENNETH WEIMER

This is the third year that students of Ball Teachers College have engaged in intercollegiate debating, and the second year that debating has been sponsored by the college as an integral part of the English work. Previous to 1928 all oratorical and debating work was sponsored by the Lyceum Club. In the fall of that year English 9, a course in public speaking, was offered for the first time. Professor Shirley D. Babbitt is in charge of both negative and affirmative teams, and has worked untiringly to produce crowd-drawing teams.

The season just closed marks an enhanced interest in debating at Ball Teachers College. The importance and interest attached to the proposition discussed, as well as the constituency of the two teams, made the season one of unusual interest. Promising lower classmen were trained and seasoned this year, so the season of 1930 is expected to be one of unusual success. With the whole-hearted support of the administration officials and the student body this type of literary work will continue to enjoy the success that it has in the past.

THE BOOKSTORE

IN April, 1924, Professor Mark Earl Studebaker, head of the commercial department, conceived the idea of having a college bookstore. As a result a bookstore was opened under his direction in the room of the Administration Building now occupied by the registrar. As there was no capital available, the money had to be borrowed. Before long the debt was paid, and the bookstore was paying for itself. Mrs. Marie Peterson was one of the first managers of the store.

After some time the present location of the bookstore was acquired; many additions have been made, and new equipment has been purchased.

H. H. SAKEL

Due to the increasing duties of Professor Studebaker, Mr. Sakel, on October 1, 1926, took over the bookstore, with Ruth Kitchen as assistant.

The bookstore, because of its convenient location, efficient help, and responsibility of acquiring the necessary equipment, is extremely valuable and very much appreciated by the student body and faculty.

Nature Study Students Feeding the Birds of the Campus

THE campus of Ball Teachers College is a haven for birds. Every effort is made to protect these feathered friends and to induce great numbers of them to choose the campus for their homes.

An iron fence, which is cat proof, has been constructed around the entire area west of the main campus. This affords protection from the many predatory animals which have heretofore been very destructive and annoying to bird life.

During winter many feeding stations are kept supplied with choice foods. Bird covers are provided in the form of brushpiles, weed patches, rye fields, corn shocks, and other shelters. Many bird houses have been placed in suitable places over the campus for the convenience of the most critical home seekers. Bird baths supply plenty of water to the thirsty during warm days of summer. Scores of plants have been chosen and set for the purpose of furnishing shelter or variety in food for birds.

Students take great interest in the birds of the campus and are always ready to contribute to the support of their protection. A visit to the campus will readily convince one that the efforts expended in behalf of the birds are well worth while. To see many friendly robins or the saucy jays or to hear the drumming of the woodpeckers and the beautiful songs or cails of the thrushes, catbirds, thrashers, orioles, larks, and quail leads one to believe that they are doing their best to repay students and to make the campus a cheerful and happy place in which to live.

HISTORICAL EXHIBIT

A COLLECTION of curios, which is valued at several hundred dollars, has been permanently lent to the school by Dr. Arthur T. Kemper. It was brought to the history department some time ago and is on display in the hall of the science building. The curios number more than three hundred and are representative of India, Egypt, Palestine, China, and the West.

The late Dr. G. W. Kemper, of Muncie, began collecting the curios. He traveled in the Holy Land and in the countries around the Mediterranean Sea, where he obtained many of the articles in the collection. He was a Civil War veteran. Dr. Arthur Kemper added to the collection from time to time. He was especially interested in Indian relics and contributed many of them. Several of the articles of the collection native to China and India were added by Miss Hetty Kemper, a relative of the Kempers, who had done missionary work in India.

One of the most unusual articles in the entire collection is a flute that was made of the bones of an eagle. The late Dr. Kemper saw a shepherd in the Holy Land playing upon it and had it purchased from him. An old opium pipe is also among the curios. A fragment of the Chinese Wall may be seen among the interesting articles. This fragment had been carried for miles on the back of an Asiatic donkey. Among the other articles are chop sticks, a spoon, miniature Chinese gods, Indian models, a piece of hard tack, old guns and firearms, swords, and a canteen.

REGISTRATION

MOST of the "red tape" involved in the process of becoming a properly registered student of Ball Teachers College occurs on the opening day of each term. Every student, for one day at least, becomes thoroughly proficient in the art of writing his own name. Before he is entirely enrolled, he must have signed his own cognomen no less than twenty times.

When once the stern doorkeeper permits them to leave the gymnasium, students can well feel proud of themselves for having left behind them a real accomplishment—that of formally declaring themselves ready to follow for twelve weeks, the illusive paths of knowledge.

Until 1926, registration was conducted in the Administration Building and the Science Hall. With the old plan, it was nothing less than a general rule to find new students and freshmen wandering about the campus all day, trying to locate the proper office or person. As the new plan is carried on in Ball Gymnasium, students go through one door, follow the ropes and their noses, and seldom go wrong.

The most usual thing about registration days seems to be rain. Perhaps, if an average were struck, the results would show slickers and umbrellas playing a prominent part in those opening days of the term.

LUCINA HALL OFFICERS

LUCINA HALL

LUCINA HALL, of which Mrs. Benjamin J. Burris is director, is a gift of the Ball brothers, given in memory of their sister Lucina Ball and named in her honor. The corner stone was layed on Wednesday, December 2, 1926, by Mrs. Margaret Ball Petty. The hall was dedicated on February 2, 1928.

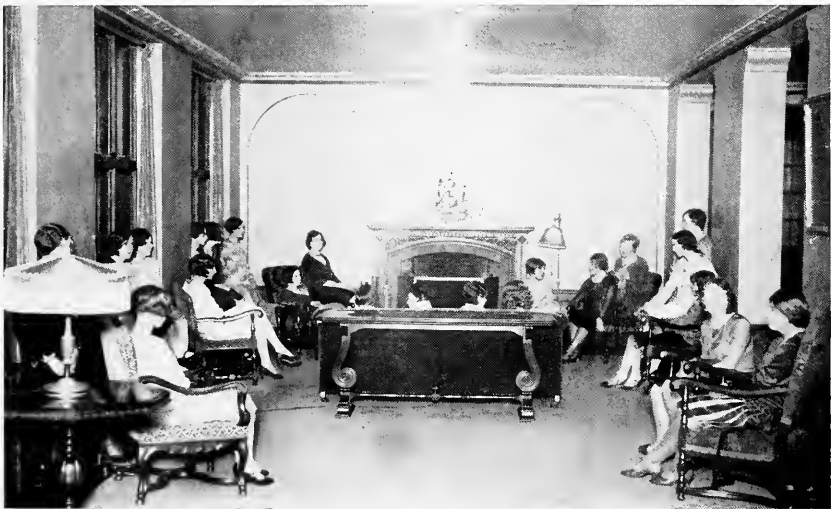

Lucina Hall will accommodate one hundred girls. On the first floor are living and reception rooms adequate for the social pleasures of the girls. There are some study and sleeping rooms on this floor, and the second and third floors consist entirely of study and sleeping rooms. The cafeteria and club and recreation rooms are in the basement.

The first organization of the girls of the hall was made at the beginning of the fall term, 1927. The purpose of the organization is to form a co-operative group that will make possible a successful living together.

Courtesy Week is sponsored by the girls living in the hall every year as a means of encouraging social responsibilities. A Christmas party is given in co-operation with the girls of Forest Hall. House meetings are held regularly. On special occasions the girls were at home to all guests.

FOREST HALL

FOREST HALL has always been a home to the girls it has housed. It was built at about the same time that the Administration Building was. Then, as now, it accommodated about forty girls. Meals were served to both the girls and the boys, who lived at College Inn, in the room which later became a cafeteria and in the fall of 1928 the Recreation Room, when the cafeteria was moved to Lucina Hall. The rooms are arranged in suites of two rooms, and two girls occupy each suite.

Sometime during the World War, Forest Hall was used by the S. T. C. as a dormitory for the soldiers. In 1918, when the school was reopened, Miss Viletta Baker became matron of the hall, and she was succeeded by Miss Mary Pavey and Miss May Klipple, who was there from 1921 to 1927. Mrs. Ethel Roberts is the present matron.

Almost every girl who has lived in Forest Hall has done something to beautify the hall or to make it a better place in which to live. It has been a home to them, and they have treated it as such.

TYPEWRITING AWARDS

THREE Ball Teachers College students have won typewriters during the last year. Anna Marie Yates of Anderson, Indiana, was awarded a Royal portable typewriter for making the highest average in 15-minute tests of any student in any normal school, college, business college or university in Indiana, for a period of four months. The contest started in October and ended on December 31, 1928.

Miss Yates was the third student of this college to win a Royal portable typewriter, having a speed of 81 words per minute. Marjorie Carlton of Muncie was awarded a portable typewriter last August for writing 52 words a minute for fifteen minutes without error. This was the highest record made by any college student in the United States at that time. A similar award was given Pauline Ingalls of Angola, Indiana, during the fall term. Miss Ingalls' record was 63 words per minute with no errors. With the winning of the award, Miss Ingalls placed Ball Teachers College first among all colleges of the nation in typing.

The tests are conducted monthly by the Royal Typewriter Company in order to determine the best typists in the colleges and normal schools of the United States.

UNDER the efficient leadership of Coach "Shorty" Parker, the Cardinal gridiron eleven experienced one of its most successful seasons. This was Mr. Parker's first season of football coaching and the season's record speaks well for him.

In the beginning of the season Coach Parker was faced with the problem of rebuilding the whole team. He met this problem by using Shields, Toler, Shively, and Leakey as a nucleus around which he built a fighting team.

By graduation the Cardinal team loses the services of only two men—Shields and Turner. With the host of excellent material left from this year's squad, Coach Parker should again have a winning team in 1929.

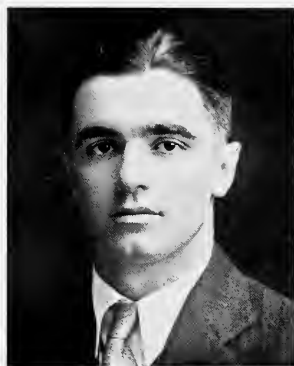

LAWRENCE D. MCPHEE

I N building up a strong grid machine of 1928, Lawrence McPhee played an important role—that of coaching the reserves.

"Mac" came here directly from New York University where he obtained his M. A. degree. He was graduated from Oberlin College, Ohio, in 1922, with an A. B. degree.

After having had a year's experience and co-operation with Mr. Parker, Mr. McPhee should prove to be a valuable asset toward the success of a winning team next fall.

With nearly every member of the Cardinal squad taking part in the opening game, Concordia College of Ft. Wayne was swamped 52-0.

For Coach Parker, the initial period was one for the trying of combinations. During the last half the Cards began to function; and from then on it was a scoring spree featured by Liggett, who scored four markers, and Burdick, who ran forty-five yards for a touch-down.

CARDINALS TIE WITH FRANKLIN

The Cardinals, lacking a necessary two-yard punch in the final quarter, allowed their second game of the season to be recorded as a tie.

The first marker was made when Shively, Cardinal left guard, intercepted a pass on Franklin's twenty-five yard line. A fumble cost the Cardinals the extra point.

In the final quarter, Underwood, Franklin fulback, took a forty-yard pass and raced over the goal for a six-pointer. The kick from placement went wide.

Passes to Burdick and Wunsch brought the ball to Franklin's two-yard line. An attempt for a drop kick was missed and with it went the last chance to break the tie.

THE inter-collegiate tourney ended another basketball season for the Cardinals. Of the sixteen games played, eight were won and eight lost. Ordinarily this would not be considered a very good record, but there are several good alibis. In mid-season, when the Cards were on the upgrade, Coach Paul B. Parker left to do graduate work at Columbia, and Virgil Schooler took up the work. Two freshmen played regularly in the line-up, and most of the regular material was made up of freshmen.

Next year there will be some good experienced material for the team, as only one man, Moulton Fulmer, will be lost by graduation. Though the loss of Fulmer will be felt, for "Moulty" was a star on both offense and defense, the Cardinals will be practically a veteran team.

Charles Toler, former Kokomo star, was the big point-getter for the team, with 137 points. He reached this goal notwithstanding the fact that he was troubled throughout the season with an infected foot. Next year "Bill" should rank high with the best in the state.

THE SEASON

IN the opening game of the season the Cards won from N. A. G. U. by a score of 36-25. Coach Parker used several men before he found a successful scoring combination. The Toler, Cly, Barker, Fulmer, and Shively line-up looked the best.

Playing a brand of basketball superior to that shown in the opening game, the Cardinals defeated Huntington 36-28. The game was fast and rough, twenty-seven personal fouls being called throughout the contest.

Concordia proved to be the third victim of the Red and White. Though the score was doubled on them most of the time, the Ft. Wayne team continued to fight. The final count stood 47-35.

While the greater part of the student body was at home, the Ball teachers handed Valparaiso a nice defeat during the holiday vacation. The northerners started strong, but Moulton Fulmer kept the teachers in the running, and they won by a 28-26 score.

In one of the best games of the season the Cards downed the Oakland City five by a 44-41 count. Toler's last goal from under the basket did much to relieve the Cardinal fans.

The first defeat of the season was chalked against the Cards when they fell before Franklin's whirl-

After forty minutes of hard fighting Danville handed the Cards their second set-back of the season. "Ginger" Reeves, Central's scoring ace, was held to two field goals by Moulton Fulmer. The final score was 33-29.

The Red and White lost a hard fought game to North Manchester, after leading 21-12 at half time. Playing good basketball and dividing scoring honors, the Cards functioned like a machine during the first half. Manchester's second-half drive overcame the Card's lead, however, and they won, 35-29.

With Toler and McCammon missing from the line-up, the Cardinals put up a good game only to lose to the Little Giants from Wabash, 35-28. Moulton Fulmer was the outstanding player on the floor, both on offense and defense.

Playing the most brilliant game of the season, the Ball Teachers College Cardinals won a fast game from Franklin by a 39-35 score. Fast passing, mixed with a slow, deliberate offense, turned the trick for the Cards. McCammon led the scoring with 14 points.

A late drive towards victory fell short, and the Parkermen lost a close one to Central Normal of Danville, 26-24. The Cards showed the same fighting form that was evident in the Franklin game. Toler was high point man, with 11 points to his credit.

In the last home game and, incidentally, "Pop" Schooler's inaugural game, the Cards won a glorious victory from Indiana Central's Greyhounds, 52-37. The Red and White used a fast-breaking offense that enabled them to hold a comfortable lead except for the first few minutes.

Still flushed from the overwhelming victory over the Indiana Central team, the Cardinals travelled to the Capitol City, only to return with the short end of a 40-33 score chalked up against them. Toler Fulmer, and Shively played best for the Teachers, while Rider looked best for the Greyhounds.

Playing a brand of basketball far below par, the Cards managed to double the score on Huntington College in the new field house in Huntington. The up-state team failed to furnish the opposition that was expected, and the Teachers' victory was very unimpressive.

Again, after leading at half time, the Cardinal netters failed to overcome a strong Manchester tide in the final minutes and were victims of a 56-33 score. The Manchester team played an exceptionally good brand of basketball during the final minutes of the game.

The final game of the season was lost to Vincennes in the inter-collegiate tournament. In the last few seconds of the game "Moulty" Fulmer, playing his last college game, attempted to tie the score but his shot missed by inches, and Vincennes won, 26-24.

THE SEASON 1929

THIS year, Coach Williams faced the season with only five veterans in his lineup. These men were Goodin, Shively, Captain George Smith, Roetken, and B. Smith. It was "Billy's" work to build about these men a team that could win most of the games on the hardest schedule ever faced by a Cardinal nine.

Ivan Roetken and Bonnie Smith were the big guns in the Card's string of moundsmen. Stoker, a newcomer, caught for these B. T. C. hurlers during the entire season. With Toler, Goodin, Shively, and Hutchinson, Coach Williams completed his infield lineup. Podelwitz, Fravel or Lindzy, and G. Smith made up the outfield.

The first game of the season was marred by 12 errors, while B. Smith was touched for 13 hits. The home season, however, was opened with a win over N. A. G. U.; the Gymnasts being sent home on the short end of an 8-6 score. In the next game, by hitting at opportune times, the Cards easily defeated Indiana Central, 7-3. G. Smith and Stoker each hit home-runs in this game.

BASEBALL SCHEDULES

The game that made the season a success, according to Coach Williams, was played at Butler. By means of some great batting and some excellent pitching by Roetken, the Teachers won a 7-to-4 decision over the Bulldogs. After this the Cards proceeded to chalk up a 7-to-5 victory over DePauw.

With only three men graduating, and a host of new material gaining experience, Coach Williams should have one of the best teams in the history of the school next year.

TRACK — 1929

THROUGH the efforts of Coach Lawrence McPhee, the Cardinal track team was the best one in the history of the school. In Graham, Cordtz and Dick, "Mac" had stellar performers who were consistent point-getters. The greater part of the team was made up of freshmen who should help B. T. C. to rank well in the track circles of the state next year.

STATE TOURNAMENT

SINGLES — Markey, Notre Dame

DOUBLES — Markey-Burns, Notre Dame

THE Cardinal tennis team of 1929, consisting of John Wilmore, Albert Brown, Ed Olsen, and Bob Ludy, completed its season in the early rounds of the state inter-collegiate tournament held here Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11. The season's record is not very enviable, but the men deserve much credit for the showings they made. Adverse weather conditions made it impossible for them to get into condition for the season. Considering the handicaps under which the men were working the season was not so unsuccessful.

Eleven schools had representatives entered in the state tournament—the largest state net tourney ever held. Representatives of Earlham, De-Pauw, Franklin, Terre Haute, Evansville, Butler, Vincennes, North Manchester, Notre Dame, Wabash, and Ball Teachers College were listed as entries in the tourney.

In the finals of the singles matches, Tom Wilson of Butler, defending champion, defaulted to Bud Markey of Norte Dame. After playing on even terms for four sets, Wilson was unable to continue play because of a cramp in his leg. Wilson's inability to pair with Christopher in the doubles took the doubles crown from them and gave it to Markey and Burns of Notre Dame.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

SINCE this type of work has been receiving more and more attention in the country this department has been making distinct strides forward. This expansion includes both activities and type of work done.

Next year all college work will open two weeks earlier than usual. This department expects to have a fall program which will take in more activities than ever before. New field facilities will permit them to spend more time on soccer, hockey, and field ball. They also hope to enlarge the extra-curricular program so as to include many more activities in stunts and games.

VIOLA BRYSON

In everything attempted this year the department has been favored with success. More than one hundred students took part in the second annual Play Day. Due to the work of the faculty, Miss Woody, Miss Frank, Miss Bryson, and to the hearty co-operation of the students, the dance recital was again a great success. During the first week of June a Greek festival of games and athletic events was held. More than three hundred took part. This was the largest festival of its kind ever held here.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

WOMEN'S Athletic Association was organized on this campus in the fall of 1924 and later became affiliated with the national organization, Athletic Conference of American College Women, of which over a hundred universities and colleges are members.

The purpose of this association is to promote good fellowship and sportsmanship among women of the college by fostering an interest in leisure time activities.

In 1928 the organization established what is hoped will be a precedent by sponsoring the first Play Day ever observed upon this campus. Girls Week is an outstanding event which W. A. A. has helped to establish. During this week a May Queen is chosen by the student body, and a festival or pageant is held in her honor.

The activities sponsored by the organization are hiking, swimming, roller skating, soccer, hockey, volley ball, basketball, tennis, bowling, track, baseball, and country dancing.

GIRLS TRACK

IN the girls physical education department, one of the most attractive courses is that in track, offered in the spring term. It has proved to be very interesting. Approximately fifty girls are enrolled in the course and many more report at practices in order to take part in the annual spring track event, which is sponsored by the W. A. A. This year it was held on Friday, June 7.

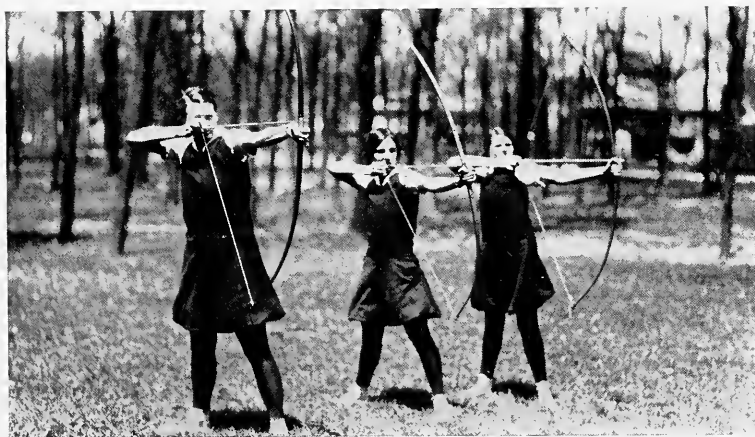

One full hour and two half-hour practices each week are necessary for those who participate in the annual event. There is much promising material for next year.

The records for last year's meet are as follows: 75-yard dash, Elizabeth Henderson, 9 4-5 seconds; discus throw, Dora Snyder, 81 feet 3 inches; broad jump, Elizabeth Henderson, 13 feet 4½ inches; high jump, Dora Snyder, 4 feet, 5 inches; javelin, Evelyn Fisher, 82 feet, 6½ inches; and hurl ball, Elizabeth Fisher, 64 feet 1¼ inches.

NAVAJO

ACCORDING to the ancient totem of the tribe, the Navajo Club was organized on December 23, 1920. Two objectives have guided the activities of the club; first, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, loyalty, and friendship among its members, and second, to support all worth while student activities on the campus.

The purpose of the club is to establish a self-ameliorative association, to provide a suitable meeting place, to promote good fellowship and social activity, and to complement the ordinary life of the normal-school man.

Among the activities of the Navajos are the Home-Coming of Sagamores, a spring formal, and an annual spring banquet.

TRIANGLE CLUB

TRIANGLE CLUB was organized February 16, 1922, with eighteen charter members. It was the first club on the campus to have a home; the home was opened March 26, 1926. The club was incorporated as a state organization on August 19, 1926. The T. C. Alumni Association was organized October 19, 1928, and has a membership of one hundred thirty-nine.

The purpose of the club is to create and perpetuate a spirit of good will and fellowship and to cooperate with the faculty, student body, and alumni in the advancement of the interests of Ball Teachers College.

Among the activities of the club during the past year were participation in inter-fraternity football and basketball games and a spring dance.

SIGMA BETA TAU

ALPHA Chapter of the Sigma Beta Tau section of the Girls Club was organized on this campus in the fall of 1924 under the direction of Miss Grace DeHority.

The purpose of the section is to promote high scholarship, good sportsmanship, and fellowship and to uphold the traditions and ideals of the school.

During the year the section has sponsored a Bunco Dance, luncheons on Home-Coming and on Mother's Day, a St. Patrick's party-dance, and several theater parties and hikes.

GIRLS CLUB

GIRLS CLUB is an organization open to all girls on the campus. Its membership includes not only section girls but unorganized girls also.

The object of the Girls Club is to further the spirit of friendship and good will among the women students and to support any movement for the welfare of the students of Ball Teachers College.

The club started its activities in the fall by giving a Get-acquainted Party for all the girls enrolled in school. The outstanding event sponsored by the club during the winter term was Mother's Day. Approximately six hundred mothers and students attended the banquet on the evening of February 15. The club ends its activities of the year with a spring dance held in Ball Gymnasium.

Through the efforts of the executive board and the presidents of the sections, the Girls Club tries to create and foster a feeling of friendliness and helpfulness between sections as well as in sections.

CLIO CLUB

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB was organized in the fall of 1923 and was open to all students of social science. In the spring of 1928 the club was reorganized as the Clio Club. Only those students who have an average of B in the social sciences are eligible for membership.

The purpose of the club is to promote the highest standards of scholarship, to give its members a knowledge of current economic, political, and social questions, to aid the future history teachers in arriving at a correct solution of their teaching problems, and to further the study of the social sciences in Ball Teachers College.

Among the activities sponsored by the Clio Club during the past year in addition to the regular meetings was the radio reception of the inaugural ceremonies.

SPOTLIGHT CLUB

THE SPOTLIGHT CLUB was organized on this campus the first of the winter term in 1923 by a group of students who were interested in dramatics. Since that time the club has grown until it is one of the most prominent clubs on the campus. The club has enjoyed its most successful year during 1928-29. Over sixty students tried out for membership, of whom about twenty were accepted.

The purpose of the club is to further dramatics at the college and among its members.

Meetings, at which programs of dramatic content are given, are held bi-monthly. The club usually presents three productions during the year. "The Copperhead" by Augustus Thomas was presented during the winter term. The club provides programs for organizations calling upon its members for entertainment. A chapel program is given by the club each year. An annual banquet is held near the close of the spring term for its members, sponsors, and guests.

KALLISTA ART CLUB

KALLISTA ART CLUB was organized in May, 1923, under the sponsorship of Miss Susan Trane. The word "kallista" is a Greek word meaning ideal beauty.

The purpose of the club is to encourage appreciation in all phases of art, to establish a club for buying art objects, and to sponsor exhibits of interest to art students and teachers.

Two pictures, "Spires of the Woods" by J. Ottis Adams and "A Summer Afternoon" by William Forsythe, have been presented to the college and are hung in the gallery.

Meetings are held monthly, which students of the college and members of city art associations are invited to attend. At one of the meetings George Mock and Francis Brown demonstrated their methods of painting, and Miss Grace Wills gave an illustrated talk on modern painting.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB was organized in the fall of 1920 and was known as the Theta Sigma Psi Club. It was reorganized in the fall of 1925 under the supervision of Miss Marguerite Debs.

The purpose of the club is to promote greater interest in the field of home economics; to provide an open forum for the discussion of all questions involved in home economics; to furnish an opportunity, through organization, for social life; to promote better fellowship among the members, and to develop an appreciation for scientific investigation in relation to home economics problems.

Among the activities were the making of banners for the Better Speech Contest, the preparing of baskets at Thanksgiving, the serving at the Dad's and Mother's Day banquets, and the holding of a bazaar at Christmas. Jean Holstein, one of the present members, is chairman of the student section of the Indiana State Home Economics Association.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB was organized during the winter term of 1929 by the members of the Industrial Arts 55 class of the fall term of that school year.

The purpose of this club is to broaden the cultural interests of its members and to promote good fellowship among teachers of this field, students in college, and workers in the industrial field, and better to acquaint prospective teachers with the tasks which will confront them when they become teachers.

The club meets regularly once each month. It has planned to hold dinner meetings and to have talks by some of the industrial workers of the state.

LATIN CLUB

LATIN CLUB, organized in October, 1921, is now one of the most active departmental organizations on the campus. The purpose of the club is to create a spirit of fellowship among Latin students and to foster an interest in the classics.

Meetings are held on the third Wednesday evening of each month during the school year. The club started the school year by holding a weiner and marshmallow roast in the month of October. At the regular November meeting Dr. Noyer entertained the club at his home. December, of course, called for the annual Christmas party, where the exchange of gifts was the most important feature. Dinner meetings were held frequently throughout the year.

SCIENCE CLUB

SCIENCE CLUB was organized in 1923. Its membership consists of professors of science and of science majors. The club meets monthly. Until the winter term of 1929, the president and vice-president were chosen from the science faculty. At that time the constitution was amended, and these officers were elected from the student membership.

The purpose of the club is to further interest in the study of all sciences.

Programs consist of talks and papers by representative science students, comment and reports by faculty sponsors, and occasionally talks by outside speakers. A banquet is held during the winter term and a picnic at the end of the spring term.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION was organized on this campus April 2, 1919; Miss Viletta Baker, then dean of women, was instrumental in having the organization started. Miss Grace DeHority has been faculty sponsor of the association since she became dean of women in 1922.

The purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association is to unite in the desire to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, to determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people, and to seek to understand Jesus and to follow Him.

At the beginning of each term "Y" Mixers are conducted by the association in co-operation with the Y. M. C. A. to promote fellowship among the students. A handbook is published, in which is given information concerning various school activities.

During the winter quarter a World Christian Education Institute was sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. The speakers at this conference were James Crain, Rabbi Marshall Taxay, Jack Evans, and Charles Corbett. The annual spring Cabinet Training Council for Indiana was held on this campus April 19-21. Every summer this association sends delegates to the regional conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Japanese articles and Log Cabin pottery are two of the interesting things that the association has had on sale during the past year.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION was organized in 1921. The purpose of this organization is to help the new student adjust himself, to lend a personal influence to all activities, to lead in social life, to do any worthy extension work possible, and to be of service at all times.

In co-operation with the Y. W. C. A. "Y" Mixers have been given at the beginning of each term. Bean suppers and discussion groups with leaders selected from the faculty have been a part of the present year's program. A conference in February brought some of the prominent national leaders in Y. M. C. A. activities to the campus.

BOOSTER CLUB

BOOSTERS CLUB of Ball Teachers College was organized in 1921. Professor Sink of the industrial arts department was the founder and first sponsor. During the spring term a committee, headed by Daryle Keefer, has been working on the revision of the constitution. The purpose of the organization is to promote and further school spirit activities.

During the past year the Boosters Club has accomplished many achievements in various fields. The expenses of Home-Coming were met by the club. In two days' time the club was able to raise a sum sufficient to send the B. T. C. Band to the Butler football game. Equipment for the yell leaders was also purchased by the Boosters Club.

SYMPOSIUM

SYMPOSIUM, a debating organization for girls, was organized in January, 1928. It grew out of a challenge for a debate from the Indiana State Normal School at Terre Haute.

The purpose of the organization is to take part in debates on or off the campus and to promote forensics among the girls of the school.

Symposium sponsors literary parties and informal debates frequently throughout the year, to which guests are invited.

ACTIVITIES OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

PROFESSOR CLAUDE E. PALMER, head of the music department, is the person to whom much of the credit for the success of the various musical organizations is due. The organizations are the Men's Glee Club, Madrigal Club, College Choir, Orchestra, and Band. As a climax to the year's work, "Campus Chords," a musical revue in which all the organizations participated, was presented under the direction of Mr. Palmer. Appropriate scenery was used with each number. The finale was the introduction of a new B. T. C. song written by Glen Stepleton and dedicated to Mr. Palmer.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

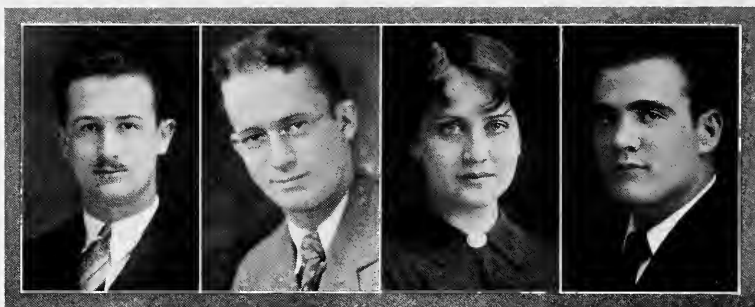

THERE has been in the past several attempts to organize a glee club for men on this campus, but the attempts were not successful. This year there was an extensive movement for the organization of a men's glee club. The first meeting was held January 3, 1929. There were forty men who tried out at this time. The number has been cut down until there are now twenty-two members.

The Men's Glee Club is organized to produce an ensemble that can give concerts in and about Ball Teachers College with credit to themselves and to the college.

B. T. C. BAND

THE band is an organization that was started in the fall of 1925, when Professor C. E. Palmer was added to the faculty. Then, with the aid of the school, it bought uniforms.

The band is back of the school on all occasions. It plays for banquets and dinners. Besides giving concerts, the band plays for school activities of various nature. At athletic contests the band is the life of the game. It leads the parades on Home-Coming and other days of celebration. The band is good looking, too, in its maroon-colored suits, led by a strutting drum-major.

MUSIC CLUB

MUSIC CLUB was organized in 1920 for the purpose of fostering a musical spirit in the school and to cooperate with musical organizations of the city. The club studies special phases of music and gives programs illustrating the problems under discussion. The integral parts of the club are the Men's Glee Club, College Choir, Madrigal Club, Orchestra, and Band.

The Music Club sponsored the Music Festival, held during National Music Week. Under the direction of Professor Claude E. Palmer, the Music Club gave "Campus Chords," a musical revue, in which all music organizations were represented. The program varied from the nonsensical to the classical and closed with the introduction of a new B. T. C. song, "Loyalty to B. T. C.," composed by Glen Stepleton and dedicated to Mr. Palmer. The Music Club Banquet was held May 21 at the Y. W. C. A.

All students taking music courses are expected to become members of the Music Club; other students interested in music are invited to join the organization. The club is a member of the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs and also the National Federation of Music Clubs.

COLLEGE CHOIR

COLLEGE CHOIR was organized last year. The choir is always ready to sing on occasions where sacred music is required.

The purpose of the choir is to create and establish a love and appreciation for the best and foremost sacred choral music.

Under the leadership of Mr. Palmer programs have been given in churches and in convocation. On February 27, the choir presented a program at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Assembly Club in the Riley Room of the Claypool Hotel.

ARE YOU SCOTCH?

Did you hear about the Scotchman who withdrew his children from school because they had to pay attention?

Or his brother who would neither sleep on bed springs or wear rubber heels because they give?

A double funeral was conducted the other day after two Scotchmen had wagered a dime as to who could stay under water longest.

One of Scotch blood is reported to have been married in his backyard so that the chickens could eat the rice.

Office of Kitselman Bros. — S. Council St., Muncie, Indiana

KITSELMAN BROTHERS, America's oldest fence manufacturers, occupy an important place in the industrial and agricultural life of Delaware County. Their modern plants, located in Muncie, produce hundreds of thousands of rods of farm, poultry, and lawn fence annually. All of it is sold direct to users throughout the United States and Canada, and in Mexico, South America, India, England, Norway, Australia, the West Indies, and the Philippines.

The Kitselman company was founded in 1883 at Ridgeville, Indiana, and moved to Muncie in 1900. A year later they built their own modern wire mill, one of the finest in the country, where all wire used in the construction of Kitselman Fence is manufactured.

As pioneers in the industry, Kitselman Brothers have been responsible for many notable improvements. Their most recent forward step is the use of 99.92 per cent pure zinc in galvanizing their fence wire. Heretofore, zinc of such pure quality has been successfully used only on telephone wire.

Kitselman Brothers also sell, direct to the consumer, Steel Posts, Gates, Barbed Wire, Paints, and roofing — all products of guaranteed quality.

For the convenience of Delaware County residents, Kitselman Brothers maintain a Factory Sales-Room at their factory on South Council Street, Muncie, where all their products may be seen and purchased at prices just a little above manufacturing cost.
